

Attachment 1:	Job Description
Title of Position:	Scientific Director
Date of job description:	29 th October 2020
Reporting to:	Country Director
Main tasks and responsibilities
- Develop an ICRHK research Strategic Plan and plan for capacity building - Identify calls for research funding and lead in writing of successful competitive grant applications - Invest in resource mobilization for research, also outside competitive grant applications - Develop a portfolio of research at ICRHK covering a spectrum of activities from basic science to behavioural science, and clinical research; and from qualitative to quantitative research - Develop research partnerships locally and globally. Identify strategic partners and initiate partnerships on research projects - As the Principal Investigator, supervise and coordinate research activities at the organization. This includes preparing documents for submission to the research and ethics committee, preparing and maintaining project regulatory folders - Ensure that the studies are conducted at high quality and as per the ICH-GCP guidelines (where relevant) and the organization's standard operating procedures (SOPS) - Lead the ongoing dissemination of scientific research findings through peer-reviewed publications and other avenues - Leverage research opportunities within ongoing intervention projects at ICRHK - Synthesize evidence from research and spearheading the integration of these into ongoing projects - Mentor junior researchers at ICRHK and guide them in developing manuscripts - Represent ICRHK in consortia or collaborative partnerships for proposal development and proposal writing - Set-up webinars and meetings to disseminate learning from ICRHK research and projects - Lead the ICRH-K and partners journal clubs - Represent ICRHK in national and international conferences and meetings - Support the ICRHK Country Director in general management tasks as a member of the Senior Management Team (SMT)
Specific Requirements
- Medical University degree, and a Master Degree in any field (preferably Public Health or Reproductive Health) and a completed - or initiated - PhD - Minimum of 10 years' experience in research and project management, preferably in Kenya. - Proof of research capacity and leadership reflected by at least three publications in peer-reviewed journals - Shown track record in attracting competitive research grants - Supervision of MSc/PhD to completion is an added advantage - Good knowledge and application of research methods and international guidelines for research related to human subjects (such as ICH-GCP) - Familiar with research-related software and statistical analysis

- Excellent communication skills in oral and written English
- Professional interest in sexual and reproductive health
- Good management skills
- Able to work independently
- Team player