

Attachment 1:	Job Description
Title of Position:	Technical Lead
Date of job description:	01 April 2023
Reporting to:	Principal Investigator
Main tasks and responsibilities
Technical: • Provide overall technical guidance for implementation of ARC studies activities at County, Sub County and Facility levels • Provide technical leadership in the design, analysis and synthesis of ARC studies activities • Provide quality assurance in implementation of ARC studies activities • Lead quarterly work planning process for ARC studies • Oversee preparation of activity and quarterly reports in consultation with other team members • Mentor, support and manage a team of highly qualified staff and align their efforts to ensure achievement of ICRHK project deliverables • Write and/or review technical components of materials and manuscript publications related to ARC • Work with Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) staff to generate and document data, conduct data analysis and document results to guide future implementation • Contribute to the capacity building of ARC/ICRHK study coordinators and research assistants. Leadership: • Represent ARC's interests and present ARC progress, achievements and lessons learned to key Kenyan stakeholders and implementing partners through meetings, conferences, technical working groups and other fora • Forge and maintain strong working relationships with Kenya Ministry of Health, especially Reproductive Health, Maternal Health, County/Sub-County Health Management Teams as well as other maternal health implementing partners Business Development: • Support in conceptualizing, writing and reviewing proposals for funding or take lead in writing grants • Perform other duties and responsibilities as assigned by supervisor and ICRHK management
Specific Requirements
Education: Degree in Medicine, Nursing, Public Health or related field. A Master's degree in a health related field. Experience & Skills required: • 5-8 years' experience in successfully implementing successful activities in areas such as maternal, newborn and child health, reproductive health, care and treatment and health systems strengthening • Understanding of the Kenya social and political context, and developments in the health sector • Previous experience working in Kenya, with solid understanding of local health system and health systems strengthening, maternal and reproductive health care gaps and opportunities, and solid relationships with government agencies and other stakeholders

- Demonstrated programming, management and technical skills
- Experience in mixed methods research designs, data collection methods and IRB processes
- Certified to work in Good Clinical Practices environment is an added advantage
- Experience in resource mobilization
- Strong interpersonal skills and a team player

Software: Proficiency with the following software: Microsoft Office Suite (Word, Excel, Powerpoint), EndNote or other citation software. Proficiency in quantitative or qualitative analysis software is an added advantage.

Communication: Excellent written, verbal and visual communication skills required.