

Attachment 1:	Job Description
Title of Position:	Research Assistant
Date of job description:	7th February 2023
Reporting to:	Senior Research officer
Job Summary: The Research Assistant will work with the Senior Research Officer to collect qualitative data for Group Antenatal Care (G-ANC) research study in Machakos County. Activities will include. Recruitment, screening for focus-group discussions and key informant interviews data collection from qualitative research study participants according to the study protocol and standard operating procedures.
Roles and responsibilities › Planning and scheduling for key informant interviews (KIIs) with the Health leadership and Health workers › Conduct focus group discussions (FGDs) with women attending ANC as part of group care › Consenting study participants prior to qualitative interviews › Facilitate the qualitative interviews, note taking and drafting of debriefing reports › Data collection with the health workers through Key Informant Interviews › Conduct focus group discussions (FGDs) and Key Informant Interviews (KIIs) while ensuring data accuracy and completeness › Transcribing interview audios from Key Informant Interviews (KIIs) and focus group discussions (FGDs) and translating data where necessary › Adhere/comply with policies on ethical conduct of research and human subject's protection as provided in the study protocol › Ensure confidentiality of information and eliminate any apprehensions and fears from the mind of the study subject. › Perform such tasks as assigned by the Senior Research Officer and PI.
Specific Requirements Qualifications › Degree in a relevant healthcare discipline including social sciences or equivalent › Knowledge of ethical issues relating to the conduct of research on human subjects › Proven experience in qualitative research, including facilitating interviews. › Ability to develop comprehensive field notes and high notch reports for qualitative analysis › High level of interpersonal skills and ability to build rapport with the study participants › Proficiency in both English and Kiswahili (written and spoken) Competencies › Proficiency in Microsoft Office Suite › Excellent skills in using mobile phones/computers/laptops/ tape recorders in transmitting information › Remarkable skills in transcription and translation of qualitative data › Ability to work independently and effectively	